

Mike Hogan, CSP

Senior Loss Control Specialist Kansas City Region

Mike joined United Heartland in 2006, where he currently provides loss control services to social service/nonprofit, education, medical, long-term care and manufacturing accounts in Sioux Falls, S.D.; Omaha, Neb.; and Des Moines, Iowa. Mike has extensive experience in workers' compensation with an emphasis in safety management and safety program development.

Prior to joining the United Heartland team, Mike managed the safety and training division for Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company (IIGE) and MidAmerican Energy Company – Iowa's largest power utility. While at IIGE, Mike managed the company's self-insured workers' compensation program. During his time there, Mike led the organization to a 25% decrease of injuries. Mike also spent nine years leading safety, security and risk management at Des Moines Water Works. Under his direction, the water utility decreased injuries by 75%, going from a high of 43 OSHA recordable incidents to 12.

Mike received an Associate of Science degree from Kirkwood Community College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and his Bachelor of Science in Occupational and Traffic Safety from Iowa State University. In 1995, Mike earned his Certified Safety Professional (CSP) designation.
